City, county teachers to begin strike Monday

BY DENA BISNETTE

Teachers in the Hancock County and Bay St. Louis schools districts will begin a strike Monday, but administrators say schools will remain open as usual.

In a joint meeting Friday afternoon, city and county teachers voted to strike as part of their efforts to convince the State Legislature to raise their pay.

According to Judy Barrett, president of the Bay St. Louis Association of Educators, an "overwhelming majority" of the teachers at Friday's meeting voted for the strike.

The strikers will picket in front of the schools, but will not make any attempts to stop anyone from crossing picket lines, Barrett said Saturday.

"We hope that any teachers who choose to work will support us. We have been getting a lot of community support," she said.

Barrett added, however, that the teachers are not going on strike "to get a vacation."

"We were hoping we would never have to do this. Striking is not something we take pride in doing," she explained.

She added that the striking teachers intend to fulfill their contracts with the school districts, even if making up days lost to the strike means extending the school year.

"We hope we won't have to be out long," said Barrett, who began receiving calls from legislators expressing their support on Saturday morning.

Not all area legislators, however, feel the strike will help the teachers get the raise they want. State Rep. Walter James Phillips called the strike "premature."

"It's ill-advised and I personally don't think it will do their cause any good because it puts those of us who are trying to get the most pay we can for them at a disadvantage," he explained.

Phillips explained that Gov. Bill Allain, who has opposed the pay raise because he does not want to raise taxes, appears ready to compromise. In addition, members of the legislature are still trying to pass the pay raise.

The senate voted Friday to unanimously endorse a multi-year raise that would provide teachers with a $2,150 salary increase in 1986 and at least $1,000 per year over the next two years.

The house bill, expected to come up for a vote next week, provides for a one-year raise of $2,000 funded by $74 million in new taxes.

Phillips said the strike could have an adverse effect on further legislative action concerning the raise.

Action to keep the schools in both the county and city districts open was taken even before the results of the strike meeting were announced.

Bay St. Louis School Superintendent J.D. McCulloch said he called an emergency meeting with school board members Friday while the teachers were still meeting.

At the meeting, board members completed an outline of a plan to keep schools open. The superintendent said he had been working on the plan for about two weeks.

Administrators realized Thursday that a strike had become imminent and that the plan would have to be completed as soon as possible.

On Saturday morning, Bay St. Louis administrators were polling teachers to find out which ones would report to work Monday despite the strike.

The administrators were also contacting substitutes for striking teachers, McCulloch said.

Coordination plan to be unveiled at beautification workshop

A plan to coordinate and encourage individual and organizational beautification efforts in Hancock County will be presented at a "War on Ugliness" workshop Monday.

Registration for the workshop, sponsored by Hancock County Beautification Committee, will open at 9:30 a.m. at Coast Electric Crew Room, Main Street, Bay St. Louis. Workshop sessions will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until noon.

Schedule for the workshop was revealed Thursday by Darleen Underwood, Extension home economist, at a committee meeting chaired by Underwood and Ellis Cuevas, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce director and Beautification Committee chairman.

Also present at Thursday's gathering were representatives of area garden clubs, county historical society, chamber, and county park commission.

Due to this winter's severe weather, Cuevas said, many area residents should be interested in discussions planned on replanting. He is encouraging interested persons to attend and to join this committee in promoting programs to beautify Hancock County.

Dr. Bob T. Chapin, coordinator of the Land-Use Center at Mississippi State University, will begin the workshop with a discussion on "Organizing Community and Neighborhood Beautification."

Tips on how to spruce up individual streets by planting one type of flower are expected.

"Caring and Pruning Crepe Myrtles" will be discussed by Lee Taylor, Hancock county agent.

Last speaker of the morning will be John Davis, area horticulturist, who will discuss lawn care and edging.

After each speaker, there will be a short question and answer period.

Also at Thursday's meeting, several committee reports were given.

A report was read for Janelle Kern, chairman of the Statute excuses city's attorney

Reversal expected in default ruling

BY BRENDA HEATHCOCK

In response to a motion by attorney Walter James Phillips, Chancellor John S. Morris Monday is expected to rescind a default judgement issued Wednesday against the City of Bay St. Louis in a $200 million lawsuit.

The default judgement, issued when Phillips failed to appear in court Wednesday, is being reconsidered based on a state statute which says a legislator does not have to try a case when the legislature is in session.

Phillips represents Hancock County in the Mississippi House of Representatives which is currently in session.

The suit had been filed by residents of the annexed area northwest of the city who have been trying to get city utilities in the area since annexation in 1967.

Filed by Dr. A. K. Martinolich, Robert Heitzmann, Charles Hirstius, Michael M. Harris, and Norma B. Favre, the suit asks for $100 million for damages suffered and $100 in punitive damages.

Following the default action, attorney for the plaintiffs, Herbert Wilson and city attorney Joseph W. Gex conferred and said a settlement between the two parties could be reached.

Gex told city councilmen Thursday, the plaintiffs wanted a timetable for the installation of the services to be monitored by the court.

He said the plaintiffs had agreed that the only damages sought would be for the services to be installed.

Martinolich said in court that he would be satisfied if the city would just do the work and not make any more "political promises."

Wilson had requested by letter to Gex that sewer and water services be installed in a priority area of the annexed area 18 months.

According to the letter, other improvements, including gas and street improvements, should be completed within a year of installation of sewer and water service.

Services in the remaining areas should be completed within three years, the letter stated.

Work is currently underway for the installation of services in the annexed area with funding by a loan from the Farmers Home Administration.

Waveland may seek work center

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Board of Aldermen is looking into the possibility of locating a community work center in the city.

The work center, which was considered but dropped by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, would house minimum security prisoners for the State Department of Corrections.

Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. said the work center would be staffed by psychiatric and security personnel and social workers and would provide some employment for community residents.

The prisoners at the work center could also provide some free labor for the city, he added.

Longo said he was told recently by State Senator Gene Taylor that a location for the center is still being sought.

The mayor did not propose a specific location in Waveland, but did request that the board meet with Taylor or with someone from the Department of Corrections to discuss building a center in the city.

If the board favors building a center, the city will hold public hearings before a final decision is made, Longo added.

The board members agreed to set up a meeting to discuss the proposal.

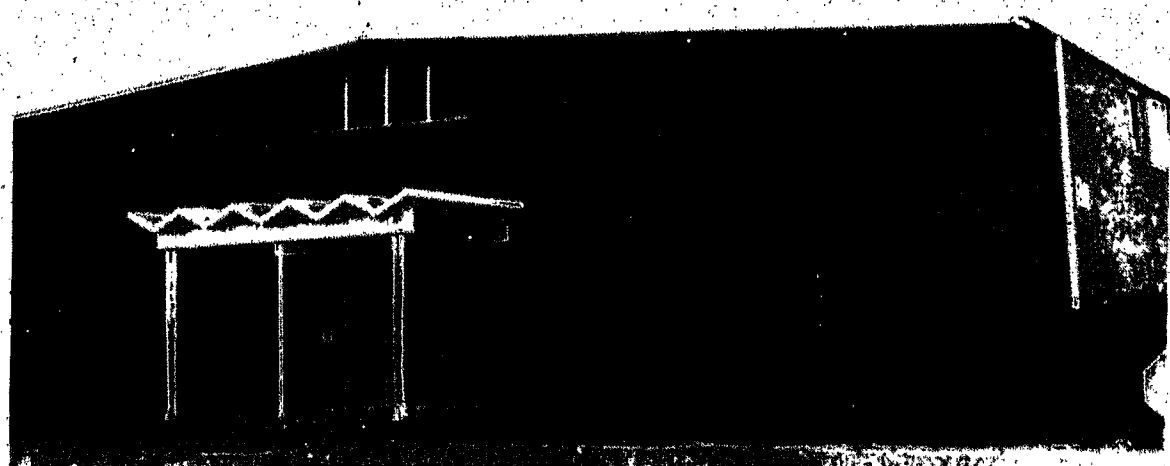

In other business, the board voted to grant Cornelius Ladner permission to hook up to the Bay St. Louis sewage system.

Ladner owns a trailer park 200 feet from the Bay St. Louis-Waveland line and requested permission to use the Bay St. Louis sewage system because Waveland has no sewage service in that area.

According to Longo, the aldermen had discussed obtaining a loan to extend sewage lines to the Bay St. Louis-Waveland line. If a loan is obtained, it would take almost two years before service could be made available.

The board also approved the sale of bonds on a new apartment complex to be constructed on Waveland Avenue.

The board meets again March 5 at 7:30 p.m.

NEW BEGINNINGS PROGRAM
Recently The Young Women's Organization of the Waveland Ward of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints held its annual "New Beginning" program at the local meeting house at the corner of Nicholson Avenue and McLaurin Street in Waveland.

The Young Women's Organization is for all girls ages 12 through 18. Its purpose is to help the girls in all areas of their social, recreational, and spiritual development.

The New Beginnings program, conducted by Catherine Forrest, was for each girl and her parents.

The opening prayer was offered by Kimberly Sones after which Melissa Ladner introduced the class officers.

The new 12-year-old girls entering the Young Women's Organization this year were introduced by Collette Bouganin. The theme for the program was read by Lora Day.

The parents were treated with a special song by their daughters entitled "Circle of Friendship," accompanied by Mandy Wilson who played the flute.

The audience was enlightened as to the six "Areas of Focus" that each girl is striving to better herself in. A short talk on each "area" was given by the following:

Angel Sones, spiritual awareness; Jill Forrest, homemaking arts; Cherie Dalon, health, recreation, and nature; Rebecca Shubert, service and compassion; Brenda Dalon, personal and social refinement; and Catherine Forrest, cultural arts and education.

Elaine Forrest, the Young Women's president, stated that the purpose of the New Beginnings program is "to recognize achievement in these six areas and to welcome the new girls into the program."

Forrest is assisted by two counselors, Connie Ladner and JoEllen Strong all of Bay St. Louis.

Refreshments were served afterwards. Those girls who attended the program include Catherine and Jill Forrest, Angel and Kimberly Sones, Cherie and Brenda Dalon, Lora Day, Rebecca Shubert, Melissa Ladner, Collette Bouganin, Debbie Zulli, Mandy Wilson, Tammy LaFontaine, and Kim Green.

and flesh and a mild flavor. It is the standard, white southern variety. The other varieties adapted to the northern production are the new Grand Rapids and the older open-pollinated varieties, Texas Grano and New Mexico Yellow Grano. Gardeners wanting to grow bulbs must have three choices of starting seeds: seed, transplants and sets. Seedlings grow good onions in Mississippi true enough without starting from true seed. Sets must be planted in the fall of the year and the young plants overwintered. The chances of death by frost or flowering in the spring are great. Starting from seed is not recommended to gardeners. Gardeners in south Mississippi, however, stand a better chance of success with seeds than gardeners in Mississippi.

Transplants set out in late winter or early spring offer the best chance for success.

Onions of commercially grown varieties are widely available in the state. They can be used in salad onions after a few weeks of growth or they can be pulled to bulb. A couple of rules for growing them are:

- 1. Plant early but late enough to avoid cold spells.
- 2. Select a well-drained, loose soil or modify your soil with nutrients during early spring and water when the soil begins to dry.
- 3. The bigger the plant you grow when bulb-planting starts, the larger the bulb produced. Transplants for the first crop should be spaced four to six inches apart in the row. Remember to have shallow root systems so they will not cultivate.
- 4. Use small onion bulbs, sold by mail order, to use to grow salad onions or bulb onions. They are planted in early spring, grow rapidly and in just a few weeks can be pulled for green onions.
- 5. Larger than a dime in diameter will frequently flower. These are when planting for bulb onions. The smaller sets should be pulled.

When growing onions for large bulbs be careful when selecting the seed. Choose the right variety, start in the fall, and don't let the plants run out of fertilizer or water. As the plants begin to mature the foliage will yellow and the tops will fall over. Try to hasten maturity by pulling over the tops. The process is speeded slightly by lifting the mature bulbs with a turning fork and breaking a few roots.

To use bulb onions as rapidly as possible after harvest to avoid rot. Storing the onions in a cool, dry, well-ventilated place will prolong their usefulness.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and Hancock County Extension Service will co-sponsor a 'War on Ugliness Workshop' on Monday at Coast Electric's Crewroom, Main Street, Bay St. Louis.

The workshop is to start with a 9:30 a.m. registration.

Speakers will include Dr. Bob T. Chapin, coordinator of the Land Use Center at Mississippi State University; Lee Taylor, Hancock County Agent; and John Davis, area horticulturist with the Extension Service.

This will be a good time to get information from the experts on how to beautify one's home and community.

We know there was a good attendance last year, and are hoping many persons will be on hand Monday.

Everyone is invited, and admission is free.

Parking will be in the lot with clam shells between Coast Electric's Crewroom and the Shell Service Station on Main Street.

The recent cold weather did a lot of damage to plants and shrubs and this will be a good time to get some professional help with replanting.

IN CONGRESS

By Cong. Trent Lott

New freedom in our lives: has planted the rich seeds for future success: for an America of vision that sees tomorrow's dreams in the learning and hard work we do today.

—President Ronald Reagan

State of the Union Address, Feb. 6, 1985

Immediately following the delivery of President Reagan's fourth State of the Union Address, a reporter confronted me with the annual question: "Didn't you think the President's speech was lacking in details of exactly how he intends to carry out his agenda over the next four years?"

That the President's State of the Union Address was not mired in detail was, well, unsurprising. Historically, the President's annual assessment of the country looks at how far we have come in the past year and more importantly, where we want to go in the future.

On Feb. 6, President Reagan offered Americans a vision for greatness. He called for a Second American Revolution that must begin by challenging conventional wisdom about the limits on our future.

Already he said, reduced tax rates and improved incentives for investment have led to an American miracle that has vaulted our economy forward to record growth. This Second Revolution, he said, will be one of hope and opportunity for all. With this reminder that freedom is the key to the Second American Revolution we mean to bring about, the President listed its specific components:

- Tax simplification for fairness and growth;
- Initiatives to gain full economic power for America's minorities;
- Deficit reduction through more growth, less spending;
- Reforms in the budget process;
- Additional deregulation of the marketplace;
- Development of a manned space station;
- Continuing the renewal of basic values.

A vision for a positive future for ourselves and our grandchildren is something toward which we all can contribute.

I support the President in asking that we in the Congress join together to make the Second American Revolution a reality. By working with him as patriotic Americans, we can make America a better, more prosperous and more secure nation. The choice is ours. Our efforts can make a difference in the direction that this great nation takes. That vision—a union of strength—is what President Reagan has shared with us.

THE QUEST FOR PEACE

The primary responsibility of the federal government is to see to the safety and security of the American people.

We as Americans can take pride in the progress made in improving our national security since 1981. The Secretary of Defense reports that we have a stronger, prouder and better equipped military force than we have had in over a decade.

Our policy has been to pursue peace through strength and to use that strength in the constructive pursuit of long-term security for our nation and the peoples of the world, and it has not been easy.

Much remains to be done. As President Reagan reported in his State of the Union Address, "There must be no wavering by us, nor any doubts by others, that America will meet her responsibilities to remain free, secure and at peace."

As a result of the President's and the Congress' national security decisions, the opportunity for long-term peace has improved significantly and the prospects for genuine arms reductions have never been brighter. The clear message that this nation is resuming its rightful role as a world leader has convinced the Soviet Union to return to the negotiating table.

In the upcoming arms control talks in Geneva, President Reagan will continue to strive for peace in the world. The United States will seek to: (1) Reduce the number of nuclear weapons; (2) Seek total elimination of nuclear weapons from the face of the earth; (3) Render nuclear weapons obsolete; and (4) Continue to meet with the Soviets to reach an agreement on how to rid the world of the threat of nuclear destruction.

I am honored to have been named to the House of Representatives team which will observe the arms control talks in Geneva. While I hope and pray that the talks will be successful and that an arms control agreement can be reached, I am adamant in making certain that the United States continue to negotiate from a position of strength.

Particularly because of the Soviet Union's past failures to live up to arms control treaties and negotiations, it is imperative that any agreement reached is mutual and verifiable.

The road to peace between the United States and the Soviet Union will be long and tough, but our initiative is clear.

Mississippi Economic Council

THE TAX PROBLEM AT THE COURTHOUSE

If you have a question about your unusually high property taxes this year, you may find the answer at the county courthouse.

That's the conclusion reached by the Mississippi Economic Council a few days ago in a study of property tax procedures across the state.

Seems a surprisingly large number of property owners were experiencing higher-than-expected property tax bills and nobody could explain why. The increased tax bills followed reappraisal—now completed in 61 counties—and adjustment of millage rates.

Examination of State Tax Commission information and interviews with several county officials provided answers to some of the questions. For example:

Of the 61 counties having completed reappraisal, 35 were indicating anticipated tax collections for general county and road and bridge taxes in excess of 20 percent more than collected in 1983. The property tax reform law of 1983 limits increases to 10 percent above the previous year, excluding new property added to the tax roll.

—Seven of the 35 counties were reporting anticipated tax receipts in excess of 40 percent about 1983, according to the Tax Commission.

—Too few of the 61 counties reduced millage sufficiently to balance higher property values under reappraisal and operate within the ten percent receipt cap.

—Four officials of the State Tax Commission, in independent interviews, reported that many counties have ignored the ten percent cap. County officials agreed with conclusions of the Tax Commission officials.

If your county's total anticipated tax collections have increased by more than 20 percent—allowing for ten percent increase and ten percent new property on the tax roll—you may want to question the property tax procedures being followed by officials in your county. That's the advice of the Tax Commission.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

THE PROPERTY TAX STORY

One side of the property tax story has been told in Mississippi in recent days.

Information from the State Tax Commission is that some county officials have failed to follow the law in reappraisal for property tax purposes and that failure has resulted in counties collecting more than the 10 percent increase in property tax increases permitted by law.

The information of the commission has been enforced by a number of county officials who have acknowledged that, either deliberately or through honest error, the law has not been followed.

Information from the tax commission indicates that as many as 35 of the 61 counties having completed reappraisal are reporting anticipated collections of more than 20 percent above collections of a year ago.

But there is another side of the property tax story—a side which should not be overlooked.

While 35 of the 61 counties appear to be in violation of the law, officials in at least 26 counties, including Hancock County, appear to have followed the law, as complex and as complicated as property tax procedures may be this year in Mississippi.

While taxpayers should be questioning those county officials who failed to follow the law, they should also be encouraging those who have taken the time to become familiar with the law, with reappraisal procedures, and with the steps necessary to operate counties within the law and with efficiency.

TAX ASSISTANCE

State tax assistance again is being offered by the Governor's Service Line.

This service, provided in cooperation with the State Tax Commission, includes providing tax forms, answering basic tax questions and referring callers to volunteer tax preparation services. Assistance may be obtained by dialing the Jackson number, 961-4042, or the toll-free number, 1-800-222-7622.

Last year, the Service Line served more than 700 Mississippians in the tax assistance program, according to Checky Harrington, director of program information, Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs.

"Service Line counselors are prepared to answer a wide range of questions on state taxes," Harrington said, "but, for questions they are not able to answer immediately, they consult with the Tax Commission and call the individual back."

"In addition to tax assistance, the Governor's Service Line provides answers on many state regulations and services," he said. "We encourage all Mississippians to contact the Service Line whenever questions arise."

VOLUNTEER INFORMATION

Organizations, agencies, clubs, churches and other groups which utilize volunteers are invited to join the newly formed Volunteer Information Reporting System in exploring the depth of volunteerism in Mississippi.

The statewide effort is being sponsored by the Governor's Office of Voluntary Citizen Participation (GOVCP) to learn more about the state's volunteers and determine ways to enhance volunteerism throughout the state.

"We want to know what volunteers are doing," said Ruth D. Wilson, director of the Office of Voluntary Citizen Participation, "and the Volunteer Information and Reporting System will provide agencies which utilize volunteers a place to report, a way to recognize their volunteers' efforts and a way to find out how other organizations are using volunteers. It will help us to coordinate the great volunteer efforts going on throughout our state.

"The system also will provide information to agencies designating consistencies, changes and trends in their own programs—information by which agencies can compare their volunteer programs with similar programs or others in general," she added.

GOVCP has developed a monthly reporting form that is available to any organization which wishes to participate. These forms will be compiled into quarterly reports that should provide information on a variety of questions relating to volunteers, such as the number of volunteers statewide, what areas they work in and characteristics they share.

"The information we gain will provide us with an idea of what volunteers throughout the state need, help us meet these needs and possibly suggest ways to make volunteerism more attractive," Mrs. Wilson said. "This system is not only designed for social service agencies, but for any group, club or organization utilizing volunteers."

In addition to the information reporting system, GOVCP also will provide agencies with leadership training programs in recruiting volunteers, information sharing and development programs for volunteer supervisors and a statewide avenue to recognize voluntary effort via its annual Voluntary Action Fair.

Agencies and organizations interested in participating in the reporting system, or who wish additional information on volunteerism, should phone the Office of Voluntary Citizen Participation at 961-4393 in Jackson or the Governor's Service Line, toll-free, 1-800-222-7622, or write 802 N. State St., Jackson 39201.

DAIRY PRODUCERS CAUTIONED

Dairy producers participating in USDA's Milk Diversion Program (MDP) should be sure that any unusual marketing or disposition of their milk does not violate their contract.

Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said, "We are in the last quarter of the 15-month program to reduce commercial milk sales."

He cautioned producers disposing of excess production to be careful that the planned disposition does not defeat the intent of the program and cause loss of program benefits.

Under the program terms, milk is considered "marketed for commercial use" when it is disposed of, in either raw or processed form, by sale, barter or exchange, or even by gift.

Therefore, a disposition method deviating from normal marketing or an attempt to delay marketings until after the end of the contract period, could be a contract violation.

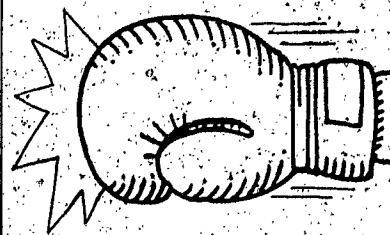

For example, Gennin said producers would not be allowed to dry the excess milk, to preserve it for later feeding. Because a contract violation makes the dairy operator ineligible for program benefits, as well as subject to marketing penalties, Gennin encouraged farmers to contact their ASCS county office before changing their normal method of marketing or disposing of the milk.

Gennin also recommended that producers planning temporary transfers of dairy cows should contact the county office to make sure the livestock transfer doesn't violate their MDF contract.

Transfers of dairy cows are limited to another MDP-contracted producer, to slaughter, or for export.

Meanwhile, producers can look forward to applying for their final Milk Diversion payment in April, after they have received their final sales receipts for all milk marketed in March, 1985.

ART EXHIBIT—Nadine Stamm shows some items to be shown in the Nadic Arts Exhibit which will be the first stop on the 38th annual Spring Pilgrimage sponsored by the Bay-Waveland Garden Club and the Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs. Nadic art exhibit scheduled as first stop of pilgrimage

By JOE PILET

A delightfully different Nadic Arts Exhibit, scheduled as first stop on the agenda, will be presented by the Bay-Waveland Garden Club at the Garden Center on Leonhard Avenue on Thursday, March 28 from 10 a.m. to noon.

This showing marks the 38th annual Spring Pilgrimage sponsored by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs.

Nadine Stamm, owner of Nadic Arts Studio, is well known and recognized for excellence in paint brush interpretations of our Gulf Coast's sea and shores with its flowers, birds and fauna. This year's exhibit has added something extra. Something special!

A new dimension is to be added by Nadine's gifted daughter, Penny Rizan of Baton Rouge. Frequently we hear of "Father and Son" enterprises, but seldom "Mother and Daughter." It's new and different. Penny does not compete. Patrons do not compare. A new art has been added.

A departure from oils, water colors and acrylics. Penny's tools or the trade are needles, embroidery hoops, fine laces, beautiful fabrics—wooden boxes. There are many dolls, toys, animals and greatest ingredient of all "imagination."

The stitchery includes picture frames, dainty dressing table accessories, doll clothing and christening dresses. The "Bye-Lo" dolls are so realistic one can almost see them breathing!

Bay St. Louis claims Penny as its very own native folk artist. She graduated from Bay High then attended University of Southern Mississippi and Philip's Business College. She teaches classes in folk art, which is now, very much in vogue. Nadine has called Bay St. Louis "home" for more than 20 years. She has put down roots and developed a bit of our Mississippi drawl. She is a naturalist and sees the spirit of the Divine Creator in flowers, fauna, birds, clouds, sunsets and sunrises, still waters and gathering storms. She is awe-inspired when she views any phase of our ever changing surroundings. Her works are our best insurance against oblivion!

At this writing our gardens are brown and bare, our once lush green lawns are a study in drab straw stubbles. Unusual winter freezes have taken their toll. But Nadine has preserved the beauty of seasons passed.

Hour after countless hour she has sketches and painted and photographed in order to faithfully reproduce the likeness of all beauty native to our surroundings. She plans to carefully select paintings that "sing a song of springtime in the South."

In the comfort of the Garden Center pilgrims may unhurriedly study the arts and appreciate the artists. There will be seascapes so realistic one imagines they smell the salt air. Flowers so realistic there's a temptation to pluck a blossom.

Are talents inherited? Possibly so. Nadine's father was a successful "cartoon" artist. He encouraged Nadine from an early age to draw—paint—draw on anything, paint what you see—keep at it.

Chicago's Institution of Fine Arts simply polished up her talents—and husband, Dick, has given splendid backing, encouragement, and knowledge in frame designs. Together they applaud Penny and urge her to keep her fingers nimble, her imagination working and the three agree there's more beauty in Mississippi than this world dreams of.

"Penny and I are looking forward to the Pilgrimage," Nadine said, and added "It will give us an opportunity to see old friends and make new ones. We hope our display will help others to more deeply appreciate nature's priceless gifts to our Gulf Coast community."

State Council on Aging to survey elderly needs

Older people in the 15 southeastern-most Mississippi counties may soon have the opportunity to express their problems and needs in a statewide survey.

The survey in the southeastern portion of the state is part of a statewide needs assessment study of older people being conducted by the Mississippi Council on Aging. Counties included in this area are Covington, Forrest, George, Greene, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Jefferson Davis, Jones, Lamar, Marion, Pearl River, Perry, Stone and Wayne.

The Southern Mississippi Area Agency on Aging is in charge of the survey in southeast Mississippi, which will begin February 27.

All interviewers will have official Mississippi Council on Aging identification cards, notebooks, survey sheets, and copies of certificates of appreciation signed by Governor Bill Allain. If there is any doubt about an interviewer's identity, people may call their County Office on Aging, or the Area Agency on Aging at 1-800-222-9504 (toll free), or their local police or sheriff's department.

This needs assessment study is designed to gain ideas and suggestions from older adults about what can be done to improve their lives and the lives of other older people.

Dr. David Brown, director of MCOA, a division of the Governor's Office of Human Development. "Information gathered in this assessment will give us good, believable data from which we can do some long-range planning of programs to meet the needs of our elderly citizens."

A summary report of the survey will be mailed to participants and will be available to the public after July 1, Brown said. Names of respondents will not be used, and all information given will be confidential.

The rapid growth in the elderly population throughout the state, as well as the nation, also was an impetus for the study, Brown said. Currently, there are approximately 410,000 Mississippians over 60, according to MCOA.

"Our elderly population is growing, and estimates show that, in 10 to 20 years, it will increase by as much as 40 percent, overtaking the teenage population," he added. "We want to be sure to explore what kinds of services and programs we can provide to help keep as many older persons as possible at home and out of institutions."

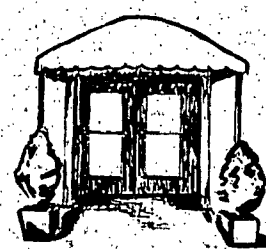

More than 1,000 interviews will be conducted throughout the state, and in addition to home and nutrition site interviews, MCOA also will mail out questionnaires to other homes and provide self-addressed, stamped envelopes for respondents to reply. In addition, anyone age 60 or over who would like to be interviewed may call their County Office on Aging or the Southern Mississippi Area Agency on Aging, toll free, at 1-800-222-9504.

"We're asking anyone who receives a survey sheet through the mail from the Council on Aging to take a few minutes to fill it out and return it to us," Brown said. "We hope that persons who are called upon will help us by participating and answering our questions as best they can. The responses given will help the Mississippi Council on Aging better understand the specific concerns of our older citizens and aid us in addressing some of these concerns. We want to help improve the quality of life for this rapidly growing segment of our population."

Michael Raff, director of the Office of Human Development, said a long range planning task force, to be made up of health care and geriatric professionals, aging services providers and others, is being established to receive an executive summary of the survey. The task force also will study, make recommendations and suggest programs in long-term community-based health care and other areas of concerns the survey may point out.

For further information about the survey, phone the Southern Mississippi Area Agency on Aging at 1-800-222-9504 (toll free), your County Office on Aging, the Mississippi Council on Aging at 354-6500, or the Governor's Service Line, toll free at 1-800-222-7822.

Construction begins on Hancock Bank's Diamondhead branch

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new Diamondhead branch of Hancock Bank on West Aloha Drive, Diamondhead, were held at 8:30 Friday morning.

Leo W. Seal Jr., president of Hancock Bank, welcomed a large group of friends, customers and Diamondhead residents to the ceremony.

Mrs. Anita D. "Neetsy" Lamb, branch officer and manager of the Diamondhead office, expressed her appreciation to those present and said the new branch will be a welcomed and valuable addition to serve the residential and commercial growth and development of Diamondhead and North Hancock and Harrison counties.

The new building, which will cover approximately 2,000 square feet, will greatly expand the number and types of services available. The lobby area will provide space for three teller stations, along with office area for two loan officers, a customer service representative and customer waiting area. A conference room and lounge area will be included in the building.

Among new services to be offered will be a safe deposit vault, safe deposit boxes and private booths for the use of safe deposit customers. The vault is designed to allow for the installation of additional safe deposit boxes as the need arises.

There will be facilities for three drive-up teller stations to go into operation when the building is completed and provisions for a fourth remote teller station for future use.

The HandyBank automated teller machine will be located at the east entrance of the building. And the night depository will be placed on the west side of the building, permitting customers the convenience of using the facility from their automobile in the well-lighted, canopied drive-up teller area.

Diamondhead office opened in December, 1979 with a staff of three employees. It was the first public bank to service Hancock County north of I-10 since the turn of the century. It is presently housed in a temporary building and offers loans, lobby and drive-up teller service, night depository, 24-hour HandyBank, and new account service and information.

The new branch was designed by L. J. Stevens, architect, and will be constructed by Purcell Corporation. Located southwest of the existing branch, the building was designed in keeping with the existing style of architecture in the Diamondhead shopping center. According to Mrs. Lamb, construction is expected to be completed within 90 to 120 days.

Among those attending the groundbreaking ceremony were Dolph Kellar, president of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, and Hancock County supervisor Roger Dale Ladner, Jimmy Travirca, and Sam Perniciaro.

Also present were Robert Barnes, manager of the Diamondhead Property Owners Association and Dr. Sidney Watson, also with the Property Owners Association; John Mason, president of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and Ms. Clarice Gustin, executive director of the chamber; Carl Joffe and Billy G. Alexander, Purcell Corporation; and Charles H. Johnson, member of the bank's board of directors, and Mrs. Johnson.

TRAVIS ELBERT BELL

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Bell announce the birth of their son, Travis Elbert, February 7, 1985, at Woman's Hospital in Jackson.

Mrs. Bell is the former Scherell Nicaise.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James Nicaise of Bay St. Louis.

Paternal grandparents are Mrs. Mary Bell of Forest and the late Elbert Bell.

ASHLEY BERTEL RUTHERFORD

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Joseph Rutherford of Waveland announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, Ashley Bertel, February 13, 1985, in Memorial Hospital in Gulfport.

Mrs. Rutherford is the former Cynthia Rose Cure.

Maternal grandparents are Joseph E. Cure and Sylvia Bertel Cure of Clermont Harbor.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Rutherford Jr.

Is an IRA right for you?

You've heard all the talk about Individual Retirement Accounts. The tax break you get. The retirement income you can count on.

But, you're probably wondering if an IRA is right for you.

"Don't you need $2,000?"

If you work, you can start an IRA at Hancock Bank with as little as $5.00. Then, just put in what you want, when you want.

You don't have to contribute every month, or even every year. But your money keeps on working for you, earning interest.

The money you put in is not taxable until you take it out. Even the interest is sheltered.

"How much can I put away?"

If you're employed, you can put up to $2,000 in your IRA. $2,000 each for working couples. Or, a $2,250 combined total for a couple if only one of you is employed.

If you deposit at least $2,000, you're eligible for your choice of 18-month or 30-month fixed-interest rates. Amounts less than $2,000 earn money-market rates that change monthly. When your IRA builds up to $2,000, we'll be happy to lock in a fixed rate for you. It's usually higher.

"Can I still get a break on '84 taxes?"

Yes. You can open an IRA right up until April 15th of 1985, and still apply the tax-savings to your 1984 return.

But don't wait past April 15th. Even if the IRS gives you an extension for your return. That's a firm deadline this year.

"Do you have to itemize?"

No. You can use a regular 1040 tax form and still get credit for your IRA contribution. It comes right off the top of your taxable income.

"When can I get my money?"

You can start taking money out of your IRA at age 59½. Of course, it's your money, and you can take it out any time you want. But the federal government imposes a 10% penalty for withdrawal before 59½. And if your money is in a fixed-rate time deposit, there may be an additional penalty.

So, think of your IRA as a long-term investment for retirement. Not a temporary tax shelter or savings for emergencies.

When you reach 59½, you can get your IRA in one lump sum, or set up a regular monthly income. Or, if you choose, you can wait until 70½ to start receiving payments.

"I only have a little to put in now. Would I have much by retirement?"

Let's say you're 30 years old, and in the 29% tax bracket. Look at how $50.00 a month would add up:

Estimated value at age 65: (based on 10% interest)
TOTAL DEPOSIT OVER 35 YEARS	$21,000.00
TAX SAVINGS	6,090.00
TOTAL INVESTMENT	14,910.00
ESTIMATED IRA VALUE	172,252.00
ESTIMATED MONTHLY PAYMENT FOR 15 YEARS	2,027.00
TOTAL RETURN	$364,858.00

have to do is sign it at home, and send it in with your first deposit.

Or come by any of our offices to ask about IRAs. We're always glad to see you.

But, open your IRA now. You'll enjoy the satisfaction of getting a tax break this year. While you're at it, an income for retirement.

Seeds carry promises

By Dr. Milo Burnham
MCES Horticulturist

As an avid vegetable gardener I've always greeted the new year with a certain excitement because the seed catalogs with their descriptions, and pictures of the new varieties begin to arrive in the mail.

This year is no different from those already past, and the seed catalogs carry promises of bigger and better vegetables. There are two new vegetable varieties likely to receive more publicity and be tried by more gardeners than any others. They are the 1985 All-America Selection Winners: Red Sails leaf lettuce and Sunburst hybrid squash.

It's interesting that the most attractive feature of both these new varieties is their color. Most varieties of lettuce are green and a few have a tinge of red, but Red Sails has ruby red leaves that are so dark that the plant doesn't photograph well at all.

However, in the garden and more importantly in salads, this new leaf lettuce should be beautiful.

Sunburst hybrid squash is a color variation of the patty pan or scallop type squash. These squash until this year have been white or lightly tinted green. Now we have Sunburst, a brilliant golden yellow with a small patch of green at both the blossom and stem ends of the fruit.

The fruit should be beautiful in the garden in a basket and sliced fresh in a salad. How they will look cooked I can't say as I haven't seen them cooked, but I strongly suspect they'll resemble other yellow summer squash.

Some other new colorful introductions for 1985 are: Lemon Boy, Sundrop and Pink Girl tomatoes; Golden Summer, Top Banana and Jalapa peppers; Summer Sweet corn, A Plus carrot; Red Ribbon cabbage; and Valentine radish.

Lemon Boy tomato as you might expect has lemon-yellow fruit weighing about seven ounces. The plants have some disease tolerance. Sundrop has small orange fruit a little smaller than two inches in diameter while Pink Girl is a hybrid having eight-ounces, crack resistant, pink fruit on disease resistant plants.

The peppers listed are of the bell, banana and jalapeno types. Golden Summer hybrid has thick walled lime green fruit that turn yellow when mature. Jalapeno peppers typically turn from green to bright red and those on Jalapa do, but on a compact plant that is a nice change from those large, rangy plants of other jalapenos.

Valentine radish is a real novelty because the surface is green and white while the interior is a bright red.

Last year the colorful new radish was Easter Egg, a multicolor mixture of reddish purple, lavender, pink, rose, scarlet and white roots and all with a white flesh. I can already see a salad with all of these colorful vegetables mixed in.

One of the new carrots for 1985, A Plus, has the standard bright orange color but is unique in that it has double the vitamin A potential of all other carrots. It's a vitamin enriched carrot that looks good, is good to eat and is good for you.

Among the many new sweet corn varieties, one that draws special attention is Summer Sweet and this is not only because of the flavor, tender kernels, and light colored silks that come off easily but also because people can get it with yellow, white or bicolor kernels.

These colorful new varieties are only a few of the introductions for 1985 and when added to some of those from past years such as gold Rush zucchini, Jersey Golden Acorn squash, Burpee's Golden Beet, purple beans and red cabbage, the vegetable garden becomes as colorful as a bed of summer flowers.

Some other new vegetable varieties that need mentioning are Sugar Daddy, the new stringless snap pea with edible pods that has a short vine, Rocky Sweet, a green fleshed muskmelon and Spicy Globe basil that is really an herb that can be grown in the vegetable garden or more appropriately as a border plant. Spicy Globe forms a compact mound about eight inches high and 12 to 18 inches across. It's good looking and it's edible.

I've described only a few of the new vegetable varieties for 1985. There are many more and they are listed and described in the seed catalogs.

Some words of caution to keep in mind when trying new varieties: when possible select those with the most disease resistance and plant them on a trial basis to see how you like them before making the big switch.

Hairdressers premiere 'Neon' cuts, colors in Hyatt show

Multi-length haircutting is the key ingredient in energized Neon Cuts designed for Spring-Summer by HairAmerica, the fashion group of the National Hairdressers' and Cosmetologists Association.

Neon Cuts were premiered at the Inspiration '85 National Beauty Show in January at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in New Orleans.

Plugging into a new generation of hair designing, Neon Cuts makes use of unique cutting techniques that create non-blended cuts with a multitude of hair lengths throughout the entire head.

"Such techniques as chip-cutting and spike-cutting make the hair stand-up in new energy-filled directions, especially when styled with the latest mousses, gels, or fix-

Makeup designs for Neon Cuts feature flashes of color along the cheek bone, under the lower eyelash and on the lips.

The male Neon Cut varies in length from approximately one and one-half inches to two and one-half inches, with options of extended length at the nape or at the front of the head.

It is designed for adaptability to different facial features.

Neon Cuts for Spring-Summer were created by HairAmerica designers Michael Diano of Santa Monica, Calif.; BeKi Kraynak of New York City; Candi Ekstrom of Altamonte Springs, Fla.; Dwight Miller of Carlen, Conn.; Rick Hutto of Augusta, Ga.; and Johann Hoffman of Baltimore, Md.

MALE NEON CUT features option of extended length in front or at the nape

VOLUMINIZED NEON—Expanding away from the head, cut makes use of latest perming and styling techniques atives," says Jack Duckworth, HairAmerica chairman.

Duckworth describes Neon Cuts as short, feminine and pretty. "They are designed to be personalized for almost any face shape or age group," he said.

"Neon Cuts are named for the new music-oriented generation, which is attracted to shocking colors, glitter and pizzazz."

"The whole idea is to draw attention to oneself to show individuality and to make one's own statement," Duckworth added.

"Cookie Cutter hair styles have been shoved out the window together with carbon copy designer label looks."

Neon-Bright colors have hit the fashion scene for Spring-Summer, and Neon Cuts, with extra perm-controlled length at the front of the head, interpret the new, electric look of the eighties.

Extra body and control are given to Neon Cuts through random perming, to achieve curl patterns in selected areas of the head, and root perming to create expansions within the hair design.

Coloring for Neon Cuts concentrates on hair with light ends and deeper colored roots, with multi-tones throughout the head.

House commends cookbook author

The Mississippi House of Representatives has approved a resolution commending Joann Hulet Dobbins, a native of Meridian, on her award-winning cookbook, Pineapple Gold.

Mrs. Dobbins and her husband were present last week when the House gave unanimous approval to the resolution.

Pineapple Gold, which includes more than 500 "delicious Southern recipes ranging from simple to exotic," has been widely recognized for excellence in the field of culinary publishing, the resolution said.

The book was a 1983 nominee for the prestigious Tastemaker Award, sponsored by the R.T. French Co. of Rochester, N.Y., the culinary publishing business' equivalent to the National Book Awards.

According to the resolution, hundreds of cookbooks from across the nation were screened by a nominating committee and Pineapple Gold was among only 125 chosen for the 1983 competition in 10 categories.

RESOLUTION SUPPORTING TEACHER'S APPEAL TO THE STATE LEGISLATURE FOR EQUITABLE PAY

WHEREAS: the Mayor and Council of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi are aware that our teachers are eminently qualified, competent, work hard and expend many extra-curricular hours beyond the call of duty resolutely dedicated to the education of the children and youth of our city, and

WHEREAS: this administration is also aware that the compensation our teachers receive for their dedicated service is the lowest in the country, is grossly inadequate and much less than is received by the teachers of the contiguous states of Alabama and Louisiana, and THEREFORE: let it be known that his city administration is one hundred percent supportive of the teachers appeal to the Mississippi State Legislature for funding of an equitable pay plan commensurate with the knowledge, dedication, and hard work exhibited by the teachers of the Bay St. Louis Separate Municipal School System.

City accepts bid for loan to purchase computer

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Bay St. Louis Council accepted a bid Friday from Merchants Bank and Trust Company for a five-year loan with an interest rate of nine percent.

The $100,000 loan will be used to purchase a computer system for the city.

City Clerk Edward A. Favre said the computer should be set up in city hall within two to three weeks.

Following the actual installation of the system it will take approximately four months for the programming of the system, he said.

Favre said voter registration will be the first program set up. Payroll and the utility department billing will be added later.

The $100,000 will allow purchase of equipment needed to include the Bay St. Louis Police Department on the computer system and includes the cost of maintenance for one year.

The council also approved the promotion of Acting Bay Police Chief Murray Ladner to chief of the department.

Mayor Larry Bennett told the council that Ladner had been doing an excellent job since he began to work for Bay Police.

He also said there had been other applicants for the position but he was glad that the promotion could be made from within the department.

Swearing in ceremonies for the new chief will be Monday, Feb. 25 at 10 a.m. at city hall.

The board also discussed terms of a contract with Gulf Coast Waste and Disposal for the upcoming year.

Favre told the council the new contract currently being negotiated would save the city approximately $18,000 of the price of the last year's contract.

The council instructed city attorney Joseph W. Gex to examine the contracts before the next meeting. No other action on the contracts for garbage pickup was taken as the final terms have not been settled.

In other business the council: Took a petition from a Waveland resident requesting permission to tie on to the proposed sewer system in the annexed area.

Voted to purchase a new copying machine for the police department.

Approved a grass cutting contract for along city streets.

Adopted a resolution supporting the teachers' appeal for a pay increase.

The council recessed until 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 26.

Another matter to be brought before the council at the recessed meeting includes a survey on 10th Street so the council can plan construction to relieve drainage problems on the street.

Four county areas designated for emergency aid funding

An emergency food and shelter program administered by Catholic Social Services begins Monday in Hancock County.

The program provides rent or mortgage payments for people in danger of eviction from their homes and utility assistance if all other utility assistance programs have been exhausted and food.

Funds for the project will come from a federal grant of $10,246.

The money for Hancock County has been divided into about $2,500 for each of the following areas: Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Kiln and Dedeaux. However, the money could be redistributed if applications for the program indicate a stronger need in one of the four areas.

Applications will be taken Monday through Wednesday from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. at the Waveland Civic Center and Annunciation Parish Center in Kiln. In Dedeaux, applicants should contact the rectory of Sacred Heart Parish.

NSTL Black History day set Thursday

The National Space Technology Laboratories will mark its sixth annual observance of Black History Month with a special program Thursday.

The public is invited to attend the day-long program which will be held in the auditorium of NSTL's Visitors Center.

This year's national theme, which the NSTL program will follow, is "The Afro-American Family: Historical Strengths for the New Century." The event is sponsored annually by the NSTL Association for Cultural Awareness.

Robin Roberts, WLOX-TV sportscaster, will be mistress of ceremonies for the two-hour morning program which begins at 9 a.m. The invocation will be given by Father Jack Sheerin of St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis.

Jerry Hlass, NSTL director, will welcome employees and guests to the observance and following his comments the morning guest speaker, Dr. John Kelly of the Naval Construction Battalion Center's Family Service Center, will address the audience.

Dr. Kelly was employed for 11 years with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service and his honors include being named one of the Outstanding Young Men in America by the national Jaycees in 1976 and 1981. Closing out the morning program will be the St. Augustine High School Jazz Ensemble from New Orleans.

Billy Knight, host of WLOX-TV's "Ebony Experience," will be the master of ceremonies for the afternoon session beginning at 1 p.m. The NSTL Concert Choir will open the program with musical selections.

Kennie Middleton, the mayor of Fayette, Miss., will be the guest speaker for the second session of the program. He was elected mayor in June 1981 and his professional memberships include the Mississippi State Bar, American Bar Association, Mississippi Trial Lawyers Association, the National and Mississippi Conferences of Black Mayors and the executive board of the Mississippi Municipal Association. Middleton is a graduate of the University of Mississippi School of Law.

The Xavier University chorus from New Orleans will perform at the conclusion of the program.

BLACK HISTORY

Continuing its celebration of Black History Month, Mississippi ETV's "Faces" series presents "Male Song," five monologues by actors portraying five well-known black statesmen.

"Faces" can be seen at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 28, on Mississippi ETV. It will be rebroadcast at 5:30 p.m., Sunday, March 3.

Each presenting a three- to five-minute performance in period costume are the following: John Horhn as Frederick Douglass; David Williams as Blanche K. Bruce; W. C. McMullen of John Roy Lynch; I. D. Thompson as Marcus Garvey; and Sam Williams as Martin Luther King Jr.

"Male Song" was researched and written by John Horhn.

No foul play indicated in death of Pass teen

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A man whose body was found washed ashore at the US-90 Bay St. Louis bridge has been identified as Stephone Joseph Charlot, 18, 364 Henderson Avenue, Pass Christian.

Murray Ladner, Bay acting police chief, is seeking information on the whereabouts of Charlot during the 30 days prior to his death.

Charlot was last seen at the Hancock County sheriff's office on Jan. 19.

An autopsy on Charlot's remains was conducted by the coroner's office in Orleans Parish.

Hancock County Coroner Harold Stiglet said, "The autopsy listed death due to accidental drowning and indicated the body had been in the water five or six days. There was no foul play," Stiglet added.

Charlot's body was found washed up on the sand about 7:30 a.m. on Feb. 19 by Ora J. Cuevas, who was fishing from the bridge, Ladner stated.

Stiglet said identification was made by clothing, body scars and tattoos.

Charlot is described as black, about 6 feet tall, 160 pounds, slender and muscular. At the time of his death he was wearing a red and black striped polo shirt with white collar, black slacks, tan shoes and tennis socks.

STEPHONE JOSEPH CHARLOT

Anyone with information about Charlot can reach Ladner or investigators Joe Pica and Susan Piazza at 467-9221.

Police still seeking vehicle stolen Thursday

By DENA BISNETTE

Law enforcement authorities are still looking for a vehicle stolen from in front of a Bay St. Louis business Thursday night.

According to Bay St. Louis Police Investigator Joe Pica, the missing vehicle is a bronze-colored 1985 Buick Century. The car's tag number is EXZ-064 and identifying marks include a NASA sticker on the front windshield.

The vehicle was stolen Thursday night from the parking lot of the Beach Palace on Beach Boulevard.

Pica said the suspect who took the vehicle apparently followed the driver out of the Beach Palace and threatened him with small caliber handgun.

The suspect forced the driver into the passenger side of the vehicle, drove the car up U.S.-90 to a point past the Choctaw Plaza Shopping Center, and forced the man out of the car.

Pica said the only available description of the suspect states that he was a "very tall white male with black hair."

Police believe the suspect continued to drive west on U.S.-90 after forcing the victim out of the car.

Officer Mike Michel and Pica are still investigating the theft.

BLACKS IN POLITICS

"Hands That Picked Cotton," a documentary examining blacks in politics in the South, can be seen at 8 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 28, on Mississippi ETV.

The film takes a look at two elections in Mississippi communities and profiles a Louisiana city where blacks have held power for more than a decade.

"Low-Tiders," stating that some of the residents between Washington Street and St. Stanislaus have indicated that they will sign a release, so the beach area may be beautified.

Efforts are being made to contact all the residents in this specific area.

Cuevas reported the Hancock County Board of Supervisors has declared March as Clean-up Month. The mayors of Bay St. Louis and Waveland will be approached for the same reason.

The Beautification Committee members commended the twin cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, as well as Diamondhead, for their efforts in picking up the trash after the parades.

A letter praising this work will be forwarded to the mayor and the general manager of Diamondhead.

Hilda Bourg of the park commission suggested that this committee consider McLeod Water Park as Brite Spot No. 2. The entrance and the ranger station need landscaping.

Efforts will be made to beautify this park.

Representing the historical society, Peggy Gibbens invited anyone interested in having a tree registered with the society to attend a meeting on Thursday, Feb. 28 at noon at the Landmark.

The society will have a Dutch-treat luncheon meeting.

She will have the necessary information and papers for those interested.

Gibbens stated that there are 690 buildings on the Historical Register from Hancock County.

Diamondhead Boy Scout Troop 20 has cleaned the Rotten-Bayou Cemetery of litter. Their next project will be in cooperation with Diamondhead Men's Golf Association to pick up litter on and around the golf courses.

Cuevas and Underwood urged all members to encourage the residents of Hancock County clean up in time for the pilgrimages in March.

called an emergency meeting Saturday morning and voted to attempt to keep the county schools open.

Superintendent Terrell Randolph recommended that the schools be closed Monday to give the board time to evaluate the strike situation.

He said keeping the schools open Monday would "deprive the students educationally" and could create problems if there were not enough teachers to supervise the students.

Board member Lennette Necaise made a motion to adopt Randolph's recommendation but the motion died for lack of a second.

Instead, the board voted four to one to adopt a proposal by Monvel Cuevas, who recommended that the schools be open as usual to allow board members to find out how many teachers will strike and how many will report to work.

If it is found Monday morning that conducting classes is not educationally feasible, the students will be taken home.

The board also voted not to allow any teachers personal leave on Monday and required that all medical leaves on that day be backed by a doctor's certification.

The board also decided not to penalize striking teachers, although a strike automatically terminates a teacher's contract, and to review each case individually when the teachers are considered for reemployment after the strike.

Parents of students in districts offered mixed comments about the strike, but most said they felt the time out of school would be educationally detrimental to their children.

Kent Sellier of Clermont Harbor, who has a child attending Gulfview Elementary School and another attending Bay High, said, "The kids are going to be the ones who will suffer."

"I feel the teachers need a raise but I think they're asking too much."

I realize that they're the lowest paid in the country and need more money but if the state doesn't have the money, how can we give it to them?"

"What about the students, especially the seniors who plan to go to college? They'll be a year behind, I think these teachers are being just a little unreasonable," Sellier said.

Robert Delcuze of Bay St. Louis also feels the teachers need a raise. "I think they have a legitimate complaint," he said. "Any legislature that votes itself a $6,000 raise and then won't pay a teacher is a bit ludicrous."

He said the strike may affect the education of his children but added that Mississippi does not pay enough to provide the state with quality teachers anyway.

Joyce Minton of Diamondhead, mother of a Hancock North Central student, said she feels that the teachers are asking for too much of a raise at one time.

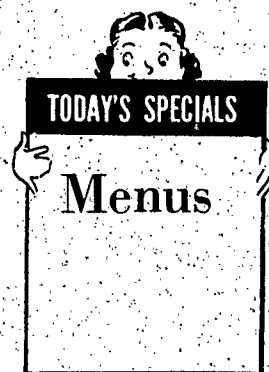

"I don't think striking's the answer. Teachers are supposed to be responsible educators, not union bargaining officials," she said.

She also said she felt that the strike would harm students, particularly those who learn better through the development of specific behavior patterns, such as attending school and doing homework at a particular time each day.

Lana Noonan, whose children attend Bay St. Louis schools, blames the strike on the legislature, not the teachers.

"The legislators have just created a monster for us by ignoring the teachers for so long. Any other industry that ignored its employees' pleas for a pay raise for that long would lose them," she said.

"I hope the legislature and the teachers can reach some type of agreement soon, or our children may have to suffer for it."

Bay-Waveland Yacht Club stages 11th annual ball

Bay-Waveland Yacht Club on North Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis was the scene of fun, frolicking and merry-making Saturday, Feb. 2 when the club staged its 11th Mystic Carnival Ball.

BWYC's Ladies Auxiliary sponsored the event.

Reigning over the evening's festivities were their Royal Majesties J. Hugh Miller of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. Joseph (Georgette) Fromherz of Pearlinton and New Orleans, La.

Dukes of honor and Maids to their Royal Majesties were Mr. Joseph Donley of Long Beach and Mrs. Larry (Lynne) Parkinson of Pass Christian; Mr. Bart Reilly of New Orleans and Waveland and Mrs. William (Alice) Pitcairn of Bay St. Louis; Mr. Richard St. Pe' and Mrs. Richard (Elizabeth) St. Pe'; Dr. J. Morgan Lyons and Mrs. Harry P. (Georgia) Williams, both of Waveland; Mr. Neill Jeffrey of Waveland and Mrs. Joseph (Marty) Donley of Long Beach; Mr. George Colucci of Gulfport and Miss Elene Golemi of New Orleans.

Their Royal Majesties were toasted by past King Robbie Robinson and Queen Sally Los Calzo.

The Queen and her maids were selected in traditional Twelfth Night fashion by drawing six silver and one golden bean from a two-tiered King Cake borne in by the club's Royal Baker Luke Scianna.

General chairman of the ball was Mr. Emmett Woods. Vice-chairman was Mr. Russell Lanham.

Court Committee chairmen were Commodore Frank Allen, Vice-commodore Basil Kennedy and Rear Commodore Walter Chamberlain Jr.

General Reception Committee chairperson and president of the Ladies Auxiliary Mrs. Emmett Woods received along with Mrs.

Frank Allen, Mrs. Basil Kennedy and Mrs. Walter Chamberlain Jr. Master of Ceremonies for this occasion was Commodore Maurice Eagan.

Captain of the 1985 Mystic Carnival Ball is Mrs. Edward Brennan. Substituting this year for Co-captain Mrs. Russell Lanham was Mrs. Matthew Hunter.

Krewe of Legion and Auxiliary plan to expand carnival event

Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray Post 77 and Auxiliary, American Legion held their second annual Carnival Ball Saturday, Feb. 2 at the Post Home on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

The members and guests enjoyed a presentation and promenade of the royalty and a dance afterwards with music being furnished by the St. Charles Streetcar Band.

King AL II was Raymond Norton and Queen ALA II was Janice Barrett.

Maids were Tricia Ballard,

Mickey Revere, Velma Schmitt, Mayola Rotherham, Majorie Dobson, and Catherine Dauenhauer.

Dukes were Jay Marsh, James Lagasse Jr., Buddy Williams, Bob McClure, Lawrence Freeman and Martin Blanchard.

Mary Caillier was captain of the ball, and Kenny Wilkerson was chairman and coordinator of this event. Ed Sauls and Wilkerson were floor committeemen.

The Krewe of the American Legion and its Auxiliary are already making plans for their next year's ball, which promises to be better each year. Their ultimate goal is to produce an extravaganza that all of Hancock County may participate in.

NSTL stages annual Mardi Gras Ball

The National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL) Mardi Gras Krewe annual ball was held on Saturday evening, February 2 at the Jourdan River Shores Country Club in Kiln.

The NSTL Krewe is the youngest Mardi Gras Krewe organization on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The krewe was established in 1982 with the primary purpose of introducing the Gulf Coast communities to the activities of NASA, the navy, and other resident agencies at NSTL and highlighting the contributions they are making toward pioneering our country's future.

The theme of this year's NSTL Mardi Gras Krewe Ball, "Treasures of the Sea" emphasizes the research and development contribution that NSTL agencies are making toward the uncovering of the mysteries of the ocean.

His Majesty, King of the NSTL Krewe is O.J. McArthur, electrical/mechanical systems supervisor, Pan Am World Services Inc. The king wore attire from the 15th Century period. The white satin tunic was decorated in a floral pattern with silver sequins with silver braid trimming the neckline. The crown was of the traditional type of silver embellished with rhinestones as was the matching scepter.

Her Majesty, Queen of the NSTL Krewe, Kay "Fudgie" Parker, administrative assistant, Williams Company, wore a 15th Century gown of the European Renaissance. The gown of matelassé white satin with a fitted bodice and scooped neckline and deep V-line basque waist line was heavily encrusted with crystal rhinestone appliques and accenting braided rhinestones. The sleeves were full upper puffed with silver lace and rhinestone trim with fitted lower sleeve with crystal rhinestone appliques and rhinestone bracelet trim. The skirt was softly gathered white satin with an overlay of white and silver geometric design. The collar was encrusted with rhinestones and silver sequins arrayed with white feathers. The crown was of traditional 15th Century rhinestone with matching scepter.

Both the king and queen wore matching 12-foot mantles made of white satin with gold sea horse and gold star fish trimmed in silver sequins and rhinestones lined in turquoise laminate.

Captain Billy Smith, supervisor, ADPE maintenance, Computer Science Corp., wore a royal blue tunic decorated with silver sequins of nautical design trimmed with silver braid with a matching 6-foot cape depicting Neptune and mermaids.

This year's costume designer for the Queen's gown was Mrs. Carol Barrett and the King and captain's costumes were designed by Mrs. Barbara Neely, both of Bay St. Louis.

The NSTL ball festivities were initiated by the Master of Ceremonies Mr. A.B. Gorman, resident project manager, Pan Am World Services Inc. Guests were provided with the background of the krewe and the significance of this year's theme. The NSTL Seal was positioned behind the krewe in full view by Mrs. Camilla Collidge, Mrs. Bert Lassater.

Mr. Gorman introduced the officers of the krewe as follows: Cmdr. Hal Lambright (USN retired), president; Pat B. Garcia, vice-president; Charlotte Holmes, secretary; Jimmie Patten, treasurer; Marjorie E. Lasater, historian; and Janet Cigler, parliamentarian.

News From I R S

Recent changes to Federal income tax laws make adequate recordkeeping necessary in order to claim a tax deduction based on business use of property. The recordkeeping is basically the same as in prior years; however, the Internal Revenue Service is now required to have acceptable documentation and cannot accept reasonable estimates.

Although some modification of existing recordkeeping requirements are expected to be made, taxpayers are urged to keep records in such detail so as to be able to make an easy distinction between personal and business use. Good recordkeeping is particularly important when the employer provides an automobile that is used for business and also for personal use.

Necaises celebrate

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Necaise of Kiln celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Sunday, February 17 in their home.

Family and friends attended the reception, along with Sonny and Mary Louise Moran of Kiln, who served as honor attendants for the couple 25 years ago at their wedding in Annunciation Catholic Church in Kiln. Mrs. Necaise is the former Bessie Lee.

Clubs, Auxiliaries

8 and 40

The 8 and 40 was organized by a number of leading American Legion Auxiliary women, including the first national president and first national secretary of the American Legion Auxiliary, in June 1922. The organization held its first Nationale Marche (convention) that same year in New Orleans, La. Recognition as an affiliated and subsidiary organization was completed in January 1933.

Although the organization was originally founded to provide its members with fun and fellowship, it soon discovered it could be of service also. The following service objective was added to its organizational plan in 1924. "Such service to be particularly concerned with child welfare." From there the National Child Welfare committee of the American Legion assigned to the Eight and Forty as a special assignment: Preventive tuberculosis service along educational lines and with, when possible, financial assistance providing for care and treatment of children, in cooperation with recognized agencies and methods.

This assignment has now been expanded beyond tuberculosis to "Lung and other respiratory diseases in children." In providing this service, the need for nurses educated in the special needs of lung and respiratory diseases in patients became evident. With that in mind the Eight and Forty established a scholarship fund to assist registered nurses in expanding their knowledge in the lung and respiratory disease areas.

Since the first awards were made in 1957, nearly one-half million dollars has been provided to nurses interested in gaining more knowledge in this critical care area.

Purpose: The 8 and 40 nursing scholarship fund was established to assist registered nurses to secure advanced preparation for positions in either supervision, administration or teaching. The students are to have prospects of being employed in positions which will be full-time and have a direct relationship to lung and respiratory disease. For example, scholarships may be used to prepare an instructor of nursing students who will include lung and respiratory disease nursing in the instructions, a nursing administrator who will be employed in hospitals or other institutions which include lung and respiratory disease patients, or a public health nursing supervisor or staff nurse employed by an agency which includes the nursing care of lung and respiratory disease patients.

General Requirements: 1. Registered nurses who are graduates of an accredited school of nursing, preferably one that includes lung and respiratory disease experience. 2. Registered nurses with two years experience in lung and respiratory disease nursing with a desire to continue in this field of nursing or who are already enrolled in a graduate program on a part-time basis and wish to continue their study on a full-time basis. 3. Acceptance by an accredited school of nursing which will enable the applicant to fulfill the purpose for which the scholarship award was established.

Personal Qualifications: 1. Adequate health. 2. Minimum 22 years of age. 3. Effective personality. 4. Qualities of leadership. 5. United States citizen. 6. Freedom to pursue full-time employment.

Basis of Selection: Awards will be made on the basis of personal and academic qualifications with consideration being given to past experience and future employment plans as they relate to lung and respiratory disease nursing. The decision of the selection committee, composed of members from the National League of Nursing, having a major interest in lung and respiratory disease nursing will be final.

Extent of Award: Scholarship awards will be made in amounts up to $2,000 each. A check for half the award will be mailed to the recipient after receipt of evidence to show enrollment in the course. The other half will be sent at the time of enrollment for the second period of the course. Nurses enrolled in schools on a quarter system will have their award divided into equal amounts for each quarter. Substantial awards from other sources may affect the total amount received.

Application forms may be obtained by writing to Dr. Esther Oschmann, chairman of 8 and 40, Nurses Scholarship Fund, P.O. Box 1307, Bay St. Louis, Ms. 39520.

Chapeau Mattie North is asking all partners to help this fund, and anyone interested in this "bell-ringing" project may contact Ms. Mattie North or Dr. Esther Oschmann.

Vanguard Technologies Corporation, one of the nation's fastest growing computer services companies, is holding an Open House exclusively for FORTRAN programmers. We have won a new government contract and have immediate openings at Fort Walton Beach, Florida.

Qualified applicants need a minimum of 3-5 years' experience in FORTRAN programming and/or analysis. A BA/BS in Computer Science, Math, Physics or Engineering desired. VAX experience a definite plus.

Our Southeastern Program Director, Jim Ellis, will be at the Holiday Inn at Biloxi, Mississippi on Wednesday, February 27, 1985 and the Ramada Inn at Slidell, Louisiana on Thursday, February 28, 1985 to talk with you about a career at Vanguard. We offer excellent growth opportunities and an attractive remuneration package.

If you are unable to attend our Open House, please send your resume to: Southeastern Program Director, Vanguard Technologies Corporation, P.O. Box 34, Gulf Breeze, Florida, 32561. An Equal Opportunity Employer.
